

Our History – new doors and more

In 2009 the church installed new entrance doors.

At its Sunday morning service on the 19th July 2009, the Church gathered outside of the church building, to mark the opening of the doors.

At its Sunday morning service on the 19th July 2009, the Church gathered outside of the church building, to mark the opening of the doors.

Steve Wallis (the minister) gave a short talk in which he thanked Wilf Bates (who sadly could not be with us to cut the ribbon); whose generosity had made the new doors possible.

He said that new doors had opened up the church to those in the local community and transformed the entrance into a place of welcome.

Steve then led in prayer, expressing a hope that the people of Polesworth would enter through the doors and find a place of calm and peace in the presence of Jesus.

Dr Ken Crofts then cut the ribbon and led the congregation into the church building to the hymn "We shall enter his gates with thanksgiving in our hearts".

The new doors as seen from the inside – note the window notices have since changed and we've changed the window that was here into an emergency exit, as well as changing out internal looks
