

Nick's 60 second sermon
on the 12 'disciples'

A lot of people say they are Christians today
But where's the life that confirms what they say?

These 12 people claimed it,
but with Jesus they weren't living.
These 12 people claimed it,
but as for the Spirit in their life, He was missing.
They were outside the Church they claimed to be in.
The Pentecost Spirit had never gathered them within.

How many today say something the same.
"I'm baptised, you know, I'll never be put out to shame."

Yet, where is the Spirit in their way of living?
Where is the Church in their Jesus' belonging?
Where is their walking in the claim they are making?

Are they real priests in God's royal priesthood?
Are they whole ones in God's holy nation?
Are they God-hoppers that in the day of their dying
The angels will come and take them to heaven?

Do their hopes deceive, and will their ears receive
The "I don't know you" being judged over them?
Come, turn your words to life, before your fatal day
And walk with the Spirit making Jesus your way.

*[The 12 disciples were willing to come to Jesus.
Paul baptised them
Pentecost came to them
They were gathered into Christ's eternal church.]*
